Dear Parents/Guardians

Year 7 Science Investigations

The Year 7 boys are working hard on their Science investigations which are projects that are undertaken in pairs. This activity is one of the highlights of the year where they have the opportunity to investigate a scientific question which interests them which is then presented to the incoming Year 7 students on their induction day. Most of these projects are conducted in school but some boys have asked that they undertake their projects at home.

We are speaking to the boys making sure that in those cases we are confident that their projects are sensible and can be undertaken effectively and safely at home. We have had to reject some project proposals on the basis of safety and have asked the boys to do an alternative method or investigation. We would ask that if you son is undertaking his investigation at home that you check that you are happy with the project undertaken in your home and that you contact us before your son undertakes his investigation if you wish to clarify aspects of his chosen investigation.

Yours faithfully

Dr E Baker
Director of Science and Head of Chemistry
